

Health & Safety Policy Statement

February 2013

43 Hullbridge Road, South Woodham Ferrers, Chelmsford

Essex, CM3 5NG

Safety isn't about statistics. It isn't separate from our business. It's central to everything we do, and we absolutely do not compromise on it. Even one accident is one too many. So, if it isn't safe, don't do it.

If each and every one of us puts safety at the heart of everything we do, together we can keep health and safety injuries to a minimum, for our customers, our workforce and the public. So how can we make sure that safety is at the centre of everything we do?

Being open and honest:-

We all have a duty to report and share information. It's not just accidents and emergencies that need to be recorded, but also those close calls.

Getting that feedback means we will learn and get better at what we do. Let's understand what went wrong, why it went wrong, and how we can make improvements.

Working with others:-

Safety isn't just a personal responsibility. Our partners, our health and safety representatives and our suppliers have a critical role in making the workplace safer for all.

As an industry, we need to share experiences and information and learn from each other.

Embracing safety:-

It can be easy for people to see safety as getting in the way and slowing us down the truth is that working safely improves productivity. Teams who are organised, fit and plan ahead, invariably do well and have fewer accidents. If you think about it, short cuts are often when accidents happen. So don't take them.

Making our procedures clear:-

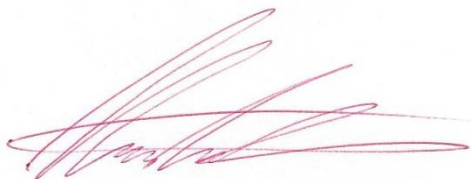

As a business, we need to make sure that people understand what they need to do to stay safe. Our processes, safe work systems and basic rules are much more likely to be remembered and adhered to if they are presented in a clear and uncomplicated way.

Trusting our instincts:-

If something doesn't feel safe, the chances are it's not. So, don't do it, stop the job and speak up. If you see others doing something that feels risky, stop them and report it. I don't believe in having a blame culture within Atom Tiles And Kitchens.

I do believe, however, that only by standing up and being counted, and highlighting where safety can be improved, can we, Atom Tiles And Kitchens have a safer environment for everyone.

Agreed & Signed,
